On Science

By Phil Agee

The ACHS science department has progressed this school year to meet the needs of students to magnify their scientific knowledge. The new addition to the school's curriculum is an advanced biology and chemistry class available to seniors wishing to enroll.

Nancy Jones and Martha Wilson, instructors for the class, expressed the desire to start an advanced program several years ago. "I discussed it with Mr. Armentrout the first year I was here," noted Wilson who is currently in her fourth year of teaching chemistry. "The administration was extremely cooperative."

The advanced class differs slightly from the general classes. Jones noted, "The classes are small. Students have the opportunity to do more individual work." Wilson agrees. "This class is much more lab oriented. Past graduates have come back and said that they did not have enough experience analyzing and gathering data." According to Wilson, the general classes deal mostly with theory.

The class is beneficial to the student as it allows the pupil to gain knowledge necessary for success at the college level. Jones, in explaining that there is a three year gap between general biology in high school and college, added that by taking the advanced class, "students can bone up on biology before they face college level."

Appomattox County is fortunate to have an advanced class in its high school's science department. Both Jones and Wilson noted that not all schools in our area have such a program. "Heritage doesn't have an advanced class, but they are very much interested in starting one," stated Wilson. As it stands now, however, ACHS is just a little bit ahead of the others.

St. Luke News

In all thy ways acknowledge Him, and He'll direct thy path.

The third Sunday services at St. Luke Baptist Church (Nov. 21) were well attended by members and friends of the church.

Sunday School was very good. Mrs. L.M. Canada was at her usual post, teaching the adult class.

The Rev. Harvey Penn from Lynchburg was in charge of the service. The Rev. Alvin Jones, assistant, was on another mission that day. The Adult Choir and the newly organized Young Adult Choir provided inspirational music.

The Rev. Penn gave a message taken from Isaiah (Chapter 30, Verse 1) titled "Trusting and taking counsel from the wrong woman." This provided food for thought. The offering was good.

An appreciation service honoring Mrs. Louise Canada was held at 3 p.m. It was sponsored by Mrs. Inez Patrick and Mrs. Anna Canada. Mrs. Louise Canada has had 66 years of dedicated service at St. Luke Baptist Church. Many friends from Pamplin, Appomattox, Richmond, Lynchburg and Danville attended this service. The Mistress of Ceremonies was Miss Shirley Hubbard from Richmond. The Rev. James McLaughlin was special speaker for the event. The Christian Tabernacle Choir provided moving music, and Mrs. Corene Walker and Mrs. Pauline Nowlin delivered vocal solos.

Floral and monetary gifts were made by the different church groups, and a poem written in Mrs. Canada's honor was at the service. This was a beautiful occasion and will be forever cherished by Mrs. Canada.

Following the service at the church, Mrs. Canada's son and his wife, as well as her grand children and great grandchildren and some other relatives and friends served a lovely dinner at Mrs. Canada's home. This was a happy day for Mrs. Canada. Her sister from Pennsylvania could not be present, but sent a gift in honor of Louise.
